

PSAT/SAT AND ACT TEST PREPARATION THIS SUMMER WITH PRINCETON REVIEW
Brother Martin High School is partnering with The Princeton Review to provide two courses this summer to prepare our students for the ACT and PSAT/SAT.
From June 15, 2009 to June 26, 2009, The Princeton Review's best instructors will conduct a PSAT/SAT preparation course which will include four practice tests and ten 3-hour classes.
From July 6, 2009 to July 17, 2009, we will be hosting a Princeton Review ACT preparation course. This course will also include four practice tests and ten 3-hour classes.
Letters are being sent home to the families of the classes of 2010 and 2011, encouraging students to enroll in these classes. Enrollment for the class of 2011 was further encouraged for the PSAT/SAT class, given the benefits of potential National Merit standing.

The cost of each of these classes is $450, half of Princeton Review's usual course cost. We are proud to offer you such valuable and affordable test preparation courses here on our campus. If you are interested in having your son attend either of these courses, please contact The PrincetonReview at 865-1060 by June 2, 2009 for the PSAT/SAT class and June 29, 2009 for the ACT class. If you have questions, please call Mrs. Leftwich.
